LAST DAY OF FAIR AS INTERESTING AS ANY OTHERS

Prizes Awarded This Morning For Horses in Front of Grand Stand.

Floral Hall Kept Open Tomorrow.

RECORD CROWD YESTERDAY.

The wind up of the tri-state fair, which began Wednesday at the Westland fair grounds, came this afternoon after a most successful meet. The attendance for the four days more than pleased the members of the Paducah Fair association and it is believed that a greater fair or a much larger scale can be given in 1911. The crowd yesterday afternoon was the largest of the fair and it was estimated at between 4,000 and 5,000 people.

As today is "Traveling Men's Day" a big crowd and a jolly one at that is on hand. This morning prizes were awarded to saddle horses and rigs and this afternoon the crowd filled the grandstand and were lined up in front and along the fence on either side of the grand stand.

Floral Hall has been a success and the association has decided to keep the hall open Sunday from 11 to 11:30 a.m. and 2 to 4 p.m. today the grounds and hall will open from 9 o'clock in the morning until 5 o'clock in the afternoon. All due care must be taken from the start by all on the association and the public. Have a good time.

Los Angeles Times Plant Blown Up With Dynamite and Score of Lives Lost With Half Million Property

Chief of Police Says He Has Positive Proof That Infrage Was Committed—Joll Cull Shows Sixteen Dead.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 1.—Between 15 and 25 men are believed to have been killed outright and more than a score of others injured when an explosion rocked the plant of the Los Angeles Times shortly after 1:30 this morning. The big Sunday edition was being run off. As a result of the warfare waged for years between union labor and Gen. Harrison J. Oles, owner of the Times, friends of the publishing house openly charge that the building was dynamited. Fire followed and the plant was completely destroyed. The loss is half a million. Most of the dead were employed in the composing, stereotyping and mailing room.

Union men deny any responsibility for the explosion.

Chief of Police Galloway announced at noon that he has positive proof that the explosion was due to dynamite. Editorial and business managers assembled their employees for a roll call and then announced that at least 16 are dead, 16 are missing and 20 injured. The missing are believed to be dead.

San Antonio, Tex., Oct. 1.—Reports reached here this afternoon that 100 miners were killed in a fire-damp explosion in a mine at Calan, Mexico. A relief train has gone to the scene from Duraz.

Bank trade in all lines has been benefited by the large number of visitors in Paducah this week. Practically every line of business has felt the stimulus of the visitors, who were out for pleasure, but the majority of whom found time to investigate the goods offered by Paducah merchants. Wholesale men report a good trade although their business is not quite as lively as the retail dealers, who are rapidly pushing forth their fall stocks.

New Senator Dies

Bloody Vanderbilt Course Kills Seven

Vanderbilt Cup Course, L. I., Oct. 1.—Harry Grant, winner of the Vanderbilt cup last year, again won that trophy in today's historic motor races. The time in an Auto car for the distance of 278.08 miles was 4 hours, 15 minutes, 38 seconds. "Bill" Endicott, driving a Col. 30, won the Massepequa sweepstakes, 126.4 miles, in 2 hours, 18 minutes and 4 seconds.

Walter Hayon, mechanician for Harold Stone, driving a Columbia car, was instantly killed when the machine struck a telegraph pole near Mendon Brook bridge at the start of the race. Stone was fatally hurt. Howard Hill, mechanician for "Wild Cat" Burman, driving a Hill, was fatally injured when his driving chain snapped in the Vanderbilt race. With terrific force the flying chain struck Hill's body. Burman stopped his car without injury to himself.

Charles Miller, mechanician for Louis Chevrolet, driving a Marquette-Buick, was killed when the racing machine, running at 75 miles an hour, struck a touring car, loaded with women. Chevrolet and the women escaped unharmed. The Buick turned over. Ferdinand D'Zubla, New York manager of the Peugeot-Harford company, was killed on the way to the course, when his touring car, containing his wife and six other passengers, hit a telephone pole.

Henry Leggadon, of Brooklyn, a spectator, was fatally hurt, when a Peugeot-Harford car, No. 17, struck him as he stepped onto the track. Thomas Miller is dying in a hospital, the result of being hit by a Peugeot-Harford car at Westbury, which was at the speedway. A number of spectators urged the Speed-

HAD A GOOD TIME IN THIS CITY.

With nothing but words of praise for Paducah, the Kentucky County Clerks' association adjourned formally today at noon, until next year, when the association will meet in Frankfort. The meeting was a success from every angle, and was replete with social functions that made the session enjoyable as well as instructive.

The session was closed this morning with the election of officers and the selection of the capital of Kentucky for the next meeting.

Col. Gus G. Singleton, who has been host of the meeting in Paducah, was elected president by acclamation, succeeding F. G. Corley, of Elizabethtown, who has been president five years. John B. Dillon, of Newport, and E. P. Taylor, of Owensboro were elected vice-presidents. S. T. Dougherty, of LaGrange, was elected treasurer. William T. Mills, of Madisonville, was re-elected secretary. All the officers are capable men, and will work faithfully for the strengthening of the association.

The race for meeting next year proved interesting. Frankfort, and Lexington derived the meeting for

Fire Department.

The fire logs during the month was about the heaviest during the summer. There were 13 alarms during the month, but several of the fires resulted in considerable losses. The largest fire was on September 19, when the feed store of T. E. Ford burned. The Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis wharfboat was also damaged by fire.

METROPOLIS TO HAVE THE SHOPS

ACCORDING TO STATEMENT ATTRIBUTED TO ENGINEER OF BURLINGTON.

Metropolis, Ill., Oct. 1.—E. P. Wetherly, resident engineer in charge of the Burlington work, said:

"A 'Y' will be built into Metropolis from the Davisson place. A large yard will be established at that point, which will be the Metropolis terminus of the double track steel bridge."

The Burlington owns 75 acres of ground at the Davisson farm. This is ostensibly for railroad shops, although Mr. Wetherly was retained on this point.

Metropolis will be made a division point. A corps of telegraph operators and a number of sub-officials will have their offices here.

The telegraph line is being built into Metropolis. It will reach here in about two weeks and Mr. Wetherly will then remove his offices from Marion here.

The Kurtz building at the corner of Perry and Second streets will be torn away and a combination passenger and freight depot will be built at this place.

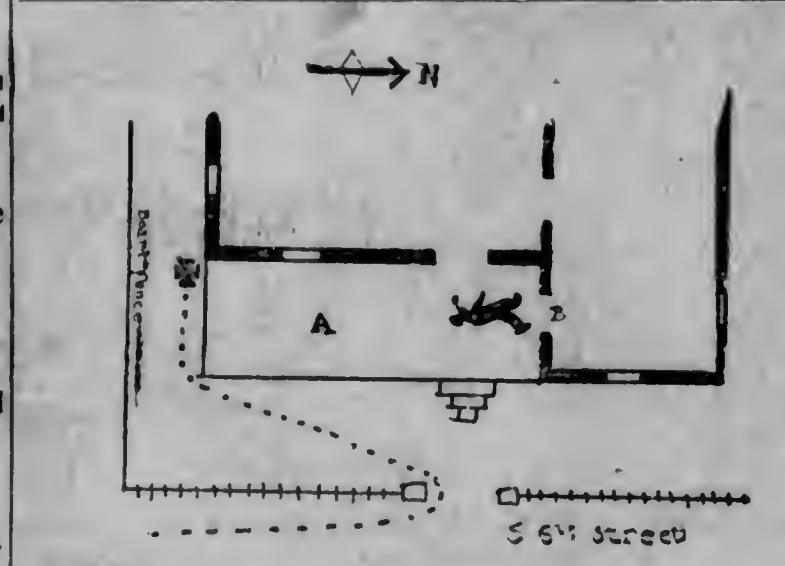

Later, when the bridge is built, this will be used exclusively for a freight depot, and a fine passenger station will be erected on the site of the colored Baptist church, at Seventh and Vienna.

CAPT. W. J. STONE SERIOUSLY HURT BY FALL FROM STEPS OF HIS HOTEL

Former Congressman Was Attending Tobacco Meeting at Clarksville—Ribs Broken.

Kuttawa, Ky., Oct. 1. (Special)—Capt. W. J. Stone was brought here this morning from Clarksville, Tenn., where he had fallen down the steps at the hotel and broken three ribs. He will recover. Captain Stone was formerly congressman from the first district and is the father of Mrs. S. J. Shook, 1500 Broadway, Paducah.

Captain Stone was attending the annual meeting of the Planters' Protective association at Clarksville, where he was re-elected president. Mr. J. W. Usher, of Mayfield, was unanimously elected vice-president; Mr. Felix G. Lewis, of Glen Haven, Tenn., was re-elected general manager; Mr. G. B. Bingham, of Cadiz, was elected secretary; Mr. John D. Seales, of Guthrie, who has been treasurer for the past year, was elected auditor; Mr. D. C. McGregor, of Clarksville, was elected treasurer; Mr. W. W. Radford, of Hopkinsville, was re-elected general inspector; S. Walton Forgy, of Elkhorn, was re-elected general counsel for Kentucky, and Mr. A. E. STERILIZATION SEHON'S PROPOSAL

LOUISVILLE MAN ADDRESSES AMERICAN PRISON ASSOCIATION.

Washington, Oct. 1.—Before the members of the American Prison association, now in session here, George L. Sehon of Louisville, Ky., read the report of the committee on prevention and probation. Mr. Sehon was re-elected general manager; Mr. D. C. McGregor, of Clarksville, was elected treasurer; Mr. W. W. Radford, of Hopkinsville, was re-elected general inspector; S. Walton Forgy, of Elkhorn, was re-elected general counsel for Kentucky. The report contained a strong plea for the sterilization of the unfit and for a radical extension of the probation system.

"With much an alarming showing as from 50 per cent. to 60 per cent. of the children of our feeble minded institutions coming of defective heredity, is it not reasonable to suggest and advocate sterilization?" said Mr. Sehon, "as one of the most important and effective of preventive measures." Such a practice has already been recognized by at least three of our states—Indiana, Connecticut and California—as an absolute check on criminality. This committee also finds that an astonishing percentage of the inmates of almshouses, insane asylums and penal institutions of our eastern states are foreign born or children of foreigners.

"The general probation period should be longer duration. Paid probation officers are recommended. Society's first duty is the conservation of its own best element, and the state should have absolute power of review over every institution dealing with dependent or delinquent children."

ing in the country. Miss Anglin opened Macaulay's theater at Louisville Monday for a week's run, and will follow Miss Lipman Tuesday night at Evansville, coming here Wednesday night.

The Courier-Journal said yesterday:

Margaret Anglin's attractive personality and finished acting in "The Awakening of Helena Richie" have served to draw good-sized audiences to Macaulay's this week, despite the fact that many of the regular playgoers have not yet fallen into their winter habits of amusement seeking, while not a few of them have not returned from their summer wanderings or country homes. The "frailty of woman" theme seems never to lose interest. This is the first time many Louisvillians have had an opportunity to make the acquaintance of Miss Anglin across the footlights. While opinions differ as to the worth of the play in which Miss Anglin is at present appearing, the verdict in favor of the star is unanimous, and when she carries out her intention of appearing in comedy she will doubtless receive a cordial welcome here."

Since that time, the plaintiff says, her husband has failed to contribute to her support.

This is the second suit for divorce filed by Mrs. Sartorius. Two years ago she began an action but the man took too much.

Collars of Milk. Imitation celluloid collars made of goat's milk are used in Paris by artists, tailors, milliners and confectioners. The milk collars are said to be as serviceable as the celluloid and to have less polish, which makes them a great improvement. In preparing the milk for collars the curds are drained off the whey and subjected to high pressure, resulting in a substance that looks very much like celluloid. Milk curds have been used in Europe for some years for the making of billiard balls, combination bone knife handles and collar buttons. Popular Mechanics.

PAREWELL SUMMER.

he meadows near the hill,
the wayside, on the hill;
he fields that wander down
the edges of the town,
beside the farmhouse door,
"farewell summer" blooms once
more.

little asters blue and white,
say as the stars at night;
summer's flowers have blown away;
ow you come to make us gay
when the fields are growing brown, and the leaves come fluttering down.

how I love to gather you,
purple flowers are white and blue,
on the cloudy afternoons,
When the wind makes pleasant tunes
In the orchard grasses dry,
Where the ripened apples lie.

Dear to me are days of spring,
And the summer makes me sing;
Winter has its times of cheer,
But the best days of the year
Come when, close beside our door,
"farewell summer" blooms once
more.

Miss Anna Bird Stewart.

An exceedingly clever take-off on the suffragette is Miss Anna Bird Stewart's "Latest Views of the Late English Poets in Woman's Suffrage" in "The College World" for October.

It is a series of verses "after the manner" of Goldsmith, Gray, Burns, Wordsworth, Hood, Shelley, Scott, Rossetti, Tennyson and Henley; short and quite to the point, with music "Poetic Hi-kense," as the author phrases it. Miss Stewart's friends in Paducah who have enjoyed her brightness and have felt she should share some of her versatile talents with the world, will welcome this recognition of her sparkling ability. She also has a short story in the same magazine that is very indicative of Miss Stewart's delightfully keen sense of humor.

Clara Lipman's engagement at the Kentucky on Tuesday evening will open the theatrical season, and the event will be one of especial social interest. There will be several box parties in honor of the occasion. Mr. Joseph L. Friedman will entertain with one and Louis Mann, Miss Lipman's husband, will be Mr. Friedman's guest. Another box party will be given by several of the younger society men.

Box Parties for Miss Lipman.

Miss Blanche Mooney, of the "1906 class," will entertain Miss Richardson and her friends with a dinner party on the G. W. Robertson next Saturday afternoon.

Anniversary Reception.

Dr. and Mrs. P. H. Stewart will receive their friends informally this evening from 8 until 12 o'clock at their home, 226 North Ninth street, in celebration of the twentieth anniversary of their marriage.

Attractive Art Afternoon.

The first open meeting of the woman's club for this season will be under the auspices of the Art department of which Mrs. Victor Vors is the versatile chairman. An exceedingly attractive program has been arranged and will be presented on Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the club house. An address will be made before the club at this time by Mr. Leavitt, the noted artist. He will talk on "The Lights and Shades of the Latin Masters." Anniversary Reception.

Dr. and Mrs. P. H. Stewart will receive their friends informally this evening from 8 until 12 o'clock at their home, 226 North Ninth street, in celebration of the twentieth anniversary of their marriage.

Attractive Art Afternoon.

The first open meeting of the woman's club for this season will be under the auspices of the Art department of which Mrs. Victor Vors is the versatile chairman. An exceedingly attractive program has been arranged and will be presented on Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the club house. An address will be made before the club at this time by Mr. Leavitt, the noted artist. He will talk on "The Lights and Shades of the Latin Masters." Miss Shelton will give a vocal number and Miss Lillie Mayes Sutherland will reader a double piano number.

After the meeting the club will be personally conducted by Mr. Leavitt to view his famous picture "The Last Supper."

Miss Anna Bird Stewart.

An exceedingly clever take-off on the suffragette is Miss Anna Bird Stewart's "Latest Views of the Late English Poets in Woman's Suffrage" in "The College World" for October.

It is a series of verses "after the manner" of Goldsmith, Gray, Burns, Wordsworth, Hood, Shelley, Scott, Rossetti, Tennyson and Henley; short and quite to the point, with music "Poetic Hi-kense," as the author phrases it. Miss Stewart's friends in Paducah who have enjoyed her brightness and have felt she should share some of her versatile talents with the world, will welcome this recognition of her sparkling ability. She also has a short story in the same magazine that is very indicative of Miss Stewart's delightfully keen sense of humor.

Clara Lipman's engagement at the Kentucky on Tuesday evening will open the theatrical season, and the event will be one of especial social interest. There will be several box parties in honor of the occasion. Mr. Joseph L. Friedman will entertain with one and Louis Mann, Miss Lipman's husband, will be Mr. Friedman's guest. Another box party will be given by several of the younger society men.

Box Parties for Miss Lipman.

Miss Blanche Mooney, of the "1906 class," will entertain Miss Richardson and her friends with a dinner party on the G. W. Robertson next Saturday afternoon.

Daily Thought.

A single grateful thought toward heaven is the most complete prayer.—Lessing.

A feature that might have added interest to the fair and was overlooked by the management, was the hobble skirt race.

Germany is working on a "crewless warship". Andy Carnegie has the kaiser beat; he is working on a "warless civilization."

The Louisville Herald says there is a Whalley-Payter-lead combination to defeat Ollie James and McCreary and Judge Hendrick.

The Memphis papers insist that Birmingham can't "spread herself" much on her increase in population, as she had already spread all over Jefferson county, Alabama, in anticipation of the census.

Congressman Owlesley Stanley, of the Second district, engaged in fist-cuffs at Henderson as the result of his own intemperate language. Owlesley is an immense fellow physically and he knocked his antagonist down. Somehow, we always sized Owlesley up as a prettier figure of a man in a street brawl than on the floor of the lower house of congress.

Ambition, coupled with determination, energy and unwavering singlemindedness of purpose, will conquer every difficulty. We know of no more inspiring story than the rise of William Lorimer, of Chicago, from bootblack to United States senator, unless it is the rise of Henry C. Ostermann, of the Ostermann Manufacturing company, from newsboy to head graftor of the Illinois Central.

Teddy "Beat 'em to a frazzle" and captured the New York Republican state convention. Democracy unfortunately didn't have anybody to "beat Tammany to a frazzle." If the Republicans had not had a Roosevelt, they would have been in the same shape as New York Democracy. We must not depend on Roosevelt and Bryan to save us. Let us have the popular primary, the initiative and referendum and the recall, and we won't need champions to fight our battles in conventions.

THE REVIVAL.

Tomorrow the big union revival begins at the Auditorium rink under Doctor Torrey. There are many, who object to revivals on the ground that they appeal to the emotions. They do frankly, and intemperate zealots sometimes get overly excited; but that is a question of individual temperament and self-control. The fact remains that the man or woman, whose emotional faculties are never stirred, are not intellectually properly developed. The heart, as we call it when we speak figuratively, is as important as the head, by which we mean the reasoning faculty. A person, who is emotionally intemperate, we consider not well balanced; but the person, who never feels an unshaken emotion—who never revels in unrestrained laughter nor knows the swiftness of unbridled tears that fall in sympathy with another's woes, is not half living. Dr. Torrey is no sensationalist. He is a great preacher, of power in the pulpit, deep learning and conviction and superior intellect. We hope immense benefit to the citizens of Paducah will result from the meetings.

THE MIDNIGHT ASSASSIN.

Newspapers, that maintain a discreet silence upon the moral questions of the hour, when a murder is committed and the murderer is a hunted man with everyone's hand against him, can blossom forth in the boldest denunciation of the crime and the criminal, feeling perfectly sure that they won't lose a subscriber or contravene the selfish interests of a single person of influence, by aligning themselves for once on the side of truth and right. They remind us of some dogs we know, that will bark at anything they see running with the other dogs after it.

Everybody thinks it is wrong to commit murder; everybody commands every effort put forth by the authorities to catch the criminal; everybody thinks speedy justice should be meted out to the perpetrator of a midnight assassination. One has just been committed in Paducah. In justice to the police department it should be said that this particular crime was not one that arose from immoral conditions permitted to exist; and it could not be prevented. Either an insane man committed the crime or some personal motive actuated it. Of course, it is up to the police department to ferret out the crime, and it is equally the duty of every citizen, who knows any facts, existing before or arising since the crime that would throw any light on the mystery, to inform the police. The only other murder committed during the year in which the murderer is at large, was the Pool road murder, and that was in the county.

The city administration is to be commended for promptly offering a substantial reward for the detection of the criminal. It must be clearly shown that society will not tolerate the gratification of personal malice and that human life is sacred in Paducah.

This crime was peculiarly atrocious, for it was deliberately planned and coldly executed, the murderer lying in wait in the darkness for his victim. There is no palliation, no extenuation in the name of "heat and passion." Lawlessness, which has in it an element of selfishness and deliberate disregard of the rights of others in any respect, is especially repulsive and contemptible, whether it consists of a violation of a city ordinance, or the commission of the most heinous crime on the calendar, of which the present mystery of Paducah, is one.

LET US BE FAIR.

An atrocious crime was committed today when the plant of the Los Angeles Times was blown up with dynamite. The perpetrator or perpetrators chose their hour with diabolical skill, touching off the fuse while the Sunday edition was going to press and stereotyping, engravers, presmen and operators were busy. Over a score were killed and a half million dollars in property was destroyed.

The Times was not only a "scab" paper; but it was particularly abusive of the unions. Naturally, some people will say at once, the outrage was the work of union sympathizers. That is unfair; for it leaves the impression that the unions of Los Angeles, and especially the typographical union, condone the offense.

Probably there are some fools in the Los Angeles unions. There are sins in everything else we know of. No doubt, in their meetings the union men denounce Otis quite as strongly as he abhors them in his paper, and it is not unlikely that some half-demented man, his brain set on fire by the fight with Otis, and inspired by the anarchistic creed of some such publication as "The Appeal to Reason", has become a convert to its system of political economy and committed the deed. Then again, the man may remain where it was but she in front reached up with her hands, pulled an immense hat pin from her hat, flourished it like a sword, and turning in her chair, jabbed the point into the knee of the woman behind her as though she intended to pin her victim to the seat.

"I can get into that game myself," she fairly shouted. And that ended the episode, though the men who witnessed it expected a deadly combat to follow.

STATE PRESS.

Sold for Ollie.

Ollie M. James, member of congress from this district, has announced his candidacy for the United States senate from Kentucky, to succeed Senator Paynter. We don't know the sentiment in other counties of the state, but we do know that old Marshall is solid for him October 12.

The Exceptions?

The News is pleased to see the announcement of Ollie James for United States senator. We hope he will be elected. Notwithstanding the fact that it is announced that he will have opposition in his congressional district, he will carry it solid, with a possible exception of one or two votes.—Carlisle News.

"LOVE OUR HOMES,

1911, but the capital city won out on the roll call.

With a short speech of thanks, Colonel Singleton assumed the president's chair at the close of the session. He announced his committee as follows: Finance—W. T. Mills, J. A. Murray and H. S. King; resolutions—F. G. Corley, O. L. Mason and T. J. Neely; program—W. L. Davis; new members—J. B. Nichols, of Danville; W. F. Dixon, of Mayville, and W. D. Pinkston, of Oldham county.

With the adjournment this morning the members went to the Palmer House, where a dinner was enjoyed before the final farewells were said.

A number of informal after dinner speeches were delivered, and the county court clerks with plow man memories of the meeting left this afternoon for their homes.

Resolutions.

The committee on resolutions brought in a report this morning and it was adopted by the clerks. The report is: "We, your committee, appointed this morning to express our thanks to the contestants extended by the press, county officials and especially Carney & Goodman, Paducah Fair association, W. H. Wright, Joe Desberger, Louis Farrel and the Paducah & Illinois Ferry company. We beg leave to submit our report, that we have certainly had a most delightful time while in your city and we have had no trouble in getting along with you. We have had a good time and have been well treated by all the people here. We shall each go home with thoughts on our memories. 'We love our homes, but O you Paducah!'

By a rising vote a special vote of thanks was extended to Col. Gus G. Singleton and his deputy clerks, who have extended every courtesy during the sessions. A special committee, consisting of H. M. Beard, of Breckinridge county, S. J. Doughton, of Hartford, and W. S. Tinsley, of LaGrange, was appointed to draw up resolutions of thanks to Frank P. James, state auditor, and Charles N. Province, assistant auditor. The resolutions were adopted.

The meeting this morning was informal. The clerks discussed various topics that were interesting to them, and the compensation received.

Wining problems were brought up and were discussed by every member present. Yesterday afternoon the clerks attended the fair and races, and last night they were the guests of the Paducah & Illinois Ferry company for a ride on the river. The theater was attended, and this afternoon some of the clerks are attending the races before their departure for home.

LIVESTOCK.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 1.—The receipts of cattle were $1 head, making a total of 1,360 for the week thus far, as against 3,396 for the same days last year and 2,612 for a corresponding period two years ago.

There were only a few local traders and butchers out, and their requirements were limited. The market generally ruled dull, with but little change to be noted so far as values or conditions were concerned. Prime to fancy hatcher cattle were in fair demand, but it was a "slow drag" on the medium and inferior or near-beef kinds. Good inquiry for the best feeders and stock cattle, while plain and common grades were dull.

Good bulls steady, common bulls and rams dull. Milk cows slow. No good, heavy steers on sale, but the feeling on that class was easy. The pens were well cleared, however.

This might be attributed to light receipts rather than any special domestic trouble.

MRS. BRAGG IS REAL STRONG

In a Personal Letter, Mrs. Tells How Women May Increase Strength and Endurance.

Indianapolis, Ind.—"I feel so much better than I ever did in my life," writes Mrs. Charles Bragg, 1517 Cornell Avenue. "I have been real strong since I began to use Cardui. Tongue cannot tell how much Cardui has done for me. I can do a full day's work now without getting tired and having to stop and lay down every few minutes. It seems to me that there is nothing to equal Cardui as a tonic and strengthening medicine."

Women who do hard work of any kind, whether in stores, factories, or at home, often lose strength and energy, and soon feel, and look, prematurely old.

To keep young, when you begin to feel tired and unable to do your work, you should try a good strengthening tonic. You will find in Cardui a friend in need.

50 years of success, and thousands of letters like the above from Mrs. Bragg, surely prove that the best remedy in the world for women is Cardui, the woman's tonic.

All druggists sell and recommend Cardui.

It will help you.

The Ring and the Man

WITH SOME INCIDENTAL RELATION TO THE WOMAN

CHAPTER XVII.

Colonel Bill Hamilton Plays His Lone Hand.

Young Haldane's first duty was to distribute manifestos to the newspapers as far as his copies permitted. Having discharged his errand, with the one copy which he had reserved for himself, he headed for home, biting up a tremendous pace as he raced along the almost deserted streets.

Before he had left to warn Gormly, he had in a few hasty words given his sister an inkling of what was about to happen. He knew that she would be awaiting the result of his interview with an anxiety not to be measured. In a short time, therefore, he placed the confession in her hands. With straining eyes and throbbed heart the girl devoured the type-written pages.

Her feelings were a singular compound of varying emotions. For one thing, there was relief that it was no worse; for another, there was admiration at the boldness and courage with which the man had grappled with a desperate situation, the dexterity and resource with which in perfect honor and dignity he had extricated himself from the dilemma in which the opposition had sought to plunge him, the magnificent audacity with which he had faced the crisis and dominated the interview; lastly, there was a keen, terrible pang of jealousy and bitterness toward that other woman. It was this last emotion that was half revealing.

Eleanor Haldane knew now that she loved this man. She realized in this unrolling of her heart that probably she had loved him all the time; that the other feelings and emotions which he had stirred in her heart and which she had sought to characterize by different words were now blended into passion no greater as his own.

She sat quite silently, staring at the paper, reading the lines over and over again, thinking her thoughts, until her brother, who had absented himself for a brief space, came back into the room.

"Well," he said, "what are you going to do?"

"Will you take a note to him to-night?" she asked.

"Not now," was the answer. "It's late. I begged him to go to bed and try to get some rest. He will need all his strength tomorrow."

"But this night?"

"I don't care what it is, you can't get it to him tonight. Besides that isn't the next way."

The girl sat down at her desk, picked up a pen and drew a sheet of paper toward her. She divined what was in her brother's mind. She knew what would be the best way after all as well as he. Well, she would do it!

"What will father say?" she asked half curiously.

"He will have enough to do explaining his part in this transaction to say anything about anything else."

"You don't think that he—"

"I am sorry to say it," answered young Haldane gravely; "but it was father who gave me the clue, you know, and I am dead certain that the whole ring have put the chief of police up to his dirty work."

He turned away as he spoke and hung his head in shame. Eleanor Haldane had already gone through the fires, and to her overwrought soul it seemed that no further humiliation could be brought upon her.

"Maybe," she said at last, forcing herself to speak with trembling lips and sinking heart, "he won't care after—"

"Don't be a fool, sis!" said her brother roughly, yet not unkindly. "He cares more for you now than anything on earth except his election, and I don't know but that he would even let that slide—"

"He wouldn't," was the answer. "That day at Louis Stewart's, father offered me to him if he would not publish that matter about the traction company, and—"

"And he refused!"

"Yes."

"Great God! I didn't think the old man could sink so low."

"That isn't all either," she went on dreamily; "for I repeated the offer."

"What!" cried her brother.

"Yes, I asked him if I said I would marry him, whether he would stop the publication."

"And he refused you!"

"He did."

"God! that's a man if ever there was one!"

"Yes," was the answer, "and that is why I am taking this step now. If he had accepted me, I should have despised him. He would have sunk, she said bitterly, "to our family level."

"Never you mind about our level, sis," said the man gently. "There are few people on earth that are as high as your level; and if Gormly ever does get you, he'll be mighty lucky."

"Thank you," said the girl simply. "Now, I want you to help me with what I have to write."

Haldane seated himself by her side, and the two heads were soon busily bent over the desk.

While all this was happening up town, matters were stirring downtown. The editor-in-chief of The Planet, belated at a dinner, happened to come in for a final inspection just as the night editor finished reading the first copy of Gormly's communication.

"What do you think of that?" he said, tossing it over.

A few moments sufficed to put the editor, who was one of the coolest and most self-contained of men, in possession of the contents. He shook his head.

"It's bad business," he remarked, handing it back.

"Will it heat him?"

"I don't know," was the answer. "I think not. If ever a man did atom for criminal folly or carelessness by his life, Gormly has. He seems to have been more sinned against than sinning, anyway. People generally like a man who tries to brace up and do the square thing, and if they had a few days to think it over, I believe it would do him more good than harm; but you see the election comes," he looked at his watch. It was after one o'clock in the morning, "tomorrow."

"Of course, we will want to say something editorially about it."

"Certainly," was the answer. "I will do it myself."

He sat down at his desk, took the paper up again, scanned it carefully.

"Look here," he said. "There is something concealed about this."

"What is it?" asked the subordinate.

"Well, in the first place it doesn't say who shot the man."

"Why, he says he wrote a confession."

"Yes, I know. I believe the woman fired the shot, and that he's trying to save her! If we could only settle that question, it would be something to soften the revelation."

"My love!" cried the night editor, "that reminds me!" He picked up the letter. "Camp Kill Devil, Wyo! One of the cub reporters got a story the other day about some western adventure from a certain Bill Hamilton, an old Montana mine owner, and if I'm not mistaken Camp Kill Devil was mentioned."

"Where is the story?"

"I killed it."

"Where is the reporter? I hope you didn't kill him."

"No," was the answer. He tapped a bell on his desk. "Send Mr. Abbott to me if he's outside," he said to the messenger.

Fortune was in a placid mood.

Abbott had just come in from an assignment. He was preparing to go home when the summons reached him. Instantly he presented himself, nervous and trembling, and wondering what was up, before the two demigods who decided upon the destinies of the paper, and incidentally upon the fate of the reporters, cub and otherwise.

He sat quite silently, staring at the paper, reading the lines over and over again, thinking her thoughts, until her brother, who had absented himself for a brief space, came back into the room.

"Well," he said, "what are you going to do?"

"Will you take a note to him to-night?" she asked.

MILKMEN FINED

TWO PLEAD GUILTY AND PROMISE TO DO BETTER.

State Examiners Promise to Come Back to Paducah This Fall.

Upon plea of guilty two dairymen, charged with selling milk containing too high a percentage of water, were fined $20 and costs yesterday in county court. The dairymen escaped with a moderate fine upon their confession of guilt and a promise not to repeat the act. The officials of the state experiment station, who swore out the warrant and were behind the prosecution, arrived today for the trial.

The lowest fine is $10, but the moderate fine is expected to be a lesson to the other dairymen and to assist the experiment station in officials in maintaining a high standard.

for milk. Those who arrived for the trial today are: R. M. Allen, Dr. J. O. Lallich and J. W. McFarlan and Elmer Hobart, the inspectors who made a thorough examination of the milk sold in Paducah several weeks ago. The officials announced that they will return to Paducah some time this fall and another thorough examination will be made to ascertain whether the law is being violated.

While in the city the officials left copies of a meat ordinance recommended for adoption by the state experiment officials.
